1. Our use of cookies

We use cookies on our websites (our website, or our websites) to help us improve our website and to provide you with a good experience when you browse our website.

[If you manage several websites and wish to have this policy apply to all of them, list all websites/companies here.]

If you would like more information about how we use personal data stored in cookies, please see our Privacy Notice

2. What cookies are and why we use them

A cookie is a small file that we store on your browser or the hard drive of your computer. Cookies contain information that we can then read when you visit our website.

We use the following cookies.

- Strictly necessary cookies. These cookies make our website run properly. They enable us to log you into secure areas of our website, use a shopping cart or make use of the e-billing services and so on.
- Analytical/performance cookies. <<Content removed for sample purposes>>
- Functionality cookies. <<Content removed for sample purposes>>
- Targeting cookies. <<Content removed for sample purposes>>
Cookies can store information for different amounts of time.
- Session cookies. <<Content removed for sample purposes>>
- Persistent cookies. <<Content removed for sample purposes>>

You can find more information about the cookies we use and why we use them below. [We do not use all cookies on all of our websites. For an overview of which cookies we use and where, see section 4 below.]

First-party cookies

Our website will set some cookies that are essential for the website to operate correctly. These are strictly necessary cookies. These cookies do not capture personally identifiable information.

- Visitor ID – this cookie is a numeric value that identifies unique visitors and provides coherence and consistency to a site visit.
